

BFDG update on COVID-19 advice for freelancers in the screen industries

We know this a worrying and uncertain time for all our members and currently the financial help offered by the government does not cover many of our members. We are urging all members to write to their local MP about the situation, a template can be found here. You can also do this through BECTU here.

There are also petitions you can sign to lobby for the self employed to get the same support as employed workers links here and here.

The BFDG have written to the Government to express our concerns about the lack of support for freelancers and we will update you once we know more on the situation.

In the meantime we have updated our list of advice and guidance from industry groups such as BECTU, the Film and TV Charity, the BFI as well as the the UK government, and the IPSE.

We will update you whenever we receive further information from these organisations.
